Introduction

The SIP is a planning tool designed to address student achievement and system needs identified through the school's comprehensive needs assessment (CNA). Additionally, the SIP provides a method for schools to address the school improvement planning requirements of Public Act 25 of the Revised School Code and the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) as applicable.

Improvement Plan Assurance

Introduction

During the 2019-2020 school year, schools will have two options for Goals and Plans. 1. Update Goals and Plans, if necessary, based on analysis of data and Program Evaluation; 2. Complete and upload the Abbreviated Goals and Plans template into ASSIST, based on analysis of data and Program Evaluation.

Plan Description

Goals Summary

The following is a summary of the goals encompassed in this plan. The details for each goal are available in the next section.

#	Goal Name	Goal Details	Goal Type	Total Funding
1	All students will be proficient in English Language Arts.	Objectives: 4 Strategies: 4 Activities: 18	Academic	$0
2	All students will be proficient in Math.	Objectives: 2 Strategies: 4 Activities: 18	Academic	$0
3	All students will be proficient in Science.	Objectives: 2 Strategies: 4 Activities: 18	Academic	$0
4	All students will be proficient in Social Studies.	Objectives: 2 Strategies: 4 Activities: 18	Academic	$0
5	All students will be proficient in writing.	Objectives: 2 Strategies: 3 Activities: 8	Academic	$0
6	80% of all students and staff will experience and implement personal learning in a competency based environment	Objectives: 1 Strategies: 3 Activities: 6	Academic	$0
7	Kenowa Hills Middle School will support the social and emotional needs of all students.	Objectives: 1 Strategies: 4 Activities: 10	Organizational	$0
8	All Students will complete an EDP by the end of 8th grade.	Objectives: 1 Strategies: 1 Activities: 3	Organizational	$0

Goal 1: All students will be proficient in English Language Arts.

Measurable Objective 1:

A 2% increase of Sixth, Seventh and Eighth grade students will demonstrate a proficiency in comprehension of informational text in English Language Arts by 06/04/2021 as measured by the NWEA.

(shared) Strategy 1:

Guaranteed and Viable Curriculum in ELA - A Guaranteed and Viable Curriculum (GVC) - The essential components of a GVC include: 1) essential content identified for all students; 2) adequate time for students to master the essential content; 3) both instruction and assessment that is aligned with the essential content; 4) consistent use of vocabulary used in all classes (regardless of teacher, building, or course section); and 5) a focus on student achievement goals and targets.

(shared) Strategy 2:

Competency-based, Personalized Learning System of Education in ELA - The time for competency education has come. It is vitally important for our country to move away from the restrictions of a time-based system. The reasons are many: To ensure that all students succeed in building college and career readiness, consistent with the Common Core of world class knowledge and skills; To build the capacity of districts, schools and educators to respond more rapidly to the needs of students and engage in continuous improvement; To take advantage of the extraordinary technological advances in online learning for personalization, allowing students to learn at their own pace, any time and everywhere. To provide greater flexibility for students that would otherwise not graduate from high school because they have to work or care for their families. In 2011, 100 innovators in competency education came together for the first time. At that meeting, participants fine-tuned a working definition of high quality competency education:

- Students advance upon mastery.
- Competencies include explicit, measurable, transferable learning standards that empower students.

School Improvement Plan

Kenowa Hills Middle School

-Assessment is meaningful and a positive learning experience for students.

-Students receive timely, differentiated support based on their individual learning needs.

-Learning outcomes emphasize competencies that include application and creation of knowledge, along with the development of important skills and dispositions.

Safe and Orderly Environment in ELA - A learning community in which staff, students, parents and the community perceive and describe as safe and orderly.

Stakeholders have roles that are defined in the decision-making process regarding school initiatives. PLC's and stakeholder teams work together on issues regarding curriculum, assessment, instruction, and the achievement of all students (Marzano, 2012). Stakeholders are invested in the successes of the school and all play a role in helping the learning community engage in continuous improvement.

High levels of stakeholder voice is a key attribute to highly effective schools. Simply put, stakeholder voice leverages the opinions and thinking of all stakeholders in the school community as a key element in making quality decisions. Inherent to stakeholder voice is a shared-decision making process which must be created, communicated and implemented. This process clarifies which decisions are made by administrators and which are made in a collaborative manner. A transparent data-gathering plan is in place to collect information from students, parents, and staff. Data is shared in a transparent manner and decisions are connected to feedback (also called a feedback loop). (shared) Strategy 4:

Effective Instructional Framework - Gradual Release of Responsibility in ELA - The gradual release of responsibility model or GRR model is an instructional model of teaching which is a designed method of pedagogy framed around a process devolving responsibility within the learning process from the teacher to the eventual independence of the learner. There are four main interactive components called Focus Lesson, Guided Instruction, Collaborative Learning and Independent Work. The gradual release of responsibility model of instruction has been documented as an effective approach for improving achievement.

Activity - Collaborative Learning	Activity Type	Tier	Phase	Begin Date	End Date	Resource Assigned	Source Of Funding	Staff Responsible
Collaborative learning is based on the view that knowledge is a social construct. Collaborative activities are most often based on four principles: 1. The learner or student is the primary focus of instruction. 2. Interaction and "doing" are of primary importance. 3. Working in groups is an important mode of learning. 3. Structured approaches to developing solutions to real-world problems should be incorporated into learning. Collaborative learning can occur peer-to-peer or in larger groups. Peer learning, or peer instruction, is a type of collaborative learning that involves students working in pairs or small groups to discuss concepts, or find solutions to problems. Collaborative learning is based on the view that knowledge is a social construct. Collaborative activities are most often based on four principles: 1. The learner or student is the primary focus of instruction.2. Interaction and "doing" are of primary importance. 3. Working in groups is an important mode of learning. 3.Structured approaches to developing solutions to real-world problems should be incorporated into learning. Collaborative learning can occur peer-to-peer or in larger groups. Peer learning, or peer instruction, is a type of collaborative learning that involves students working in pairs or small groups to discuss concepts, or find solutions to problems. Competency-based, Personalized Learning System of Education in ELA - The time for competency education has come. It is vitally important for our country to move away from the restrictions of a time-based system. The reasons are many: To ensure that all students succeed in building college and career readiness, consistent with the Common Core of world class knowledge and skills; To build the capacity of districts, schools and educators to respond more rapidly to the needs of students and engage in continuous improvement; To take advantage of the extraordinary technological advances in online learning for personalization, allowing students to learn at their own pace, any time and everywhere. To provide greater flexibility for students that would otherwise not graduate from high school because they have to work or care for their families. In 2011, 100 innovators in competency education came together for the first time. At that meeting, participants fine-tuned a working definition of high quality competency education:

- Students advance upon mastery.
- Competencies include explicit, measurable, transferable learning standards that empower students.

School Improvement Plan

-Assessment is meaningful and a positive learning experience for students.

-Students receive timely, differentiated support based on their individual learning needs.

-Learning outcomes emphasize competencies that include application and creation of knowledge, along with the development of important skills and dispositions.

High levels of stakeholder voice is a key attribute to highly effective schools. Simply put, stakeholder voice leverages the opinions and thinking of all stakeholders in the school community as a key element in making quality decisions. Inherent to stakeholder voice is a shared-decision making process which must be created, communicated and implemented. This process clarifies which decisions are made by administrators and which are made in a collaborative manner. Collaborative learning is based on the view that knowledge is a social construct. Collaborative activities are most often based on four principles: 1. The learner or student is the primary focus of instruction.2. Interaction and "doing" are of primary importance. 3. Working in groups is an important mode of learning. 3.Structured approaches to developing solutions to real-world problems should be incorporated into learning. Collaborative learning can occur peer-to-peer or in larger groups. Peer learning, or peer instruction, is a type of collaborative learning that involves students working in pairs or small groups to discuss concepts, or find solutions to problems. engage in continuous improvement; To take advantage of the extraordinary technological advances in online learning for personalization, allowing students to learn at their own pace, any time and everywhere. To provide greater flexibility for students that would otherwise not graduate from high school because they have to work or care for their families. In 2011, 100 innovators in competency education came together for the first time. At that meeting, participants fine-tuned a working definition of high quality competency education:

- Students advance upon mastery.
- Competencies include explicit, measurable, transferable learning standards that empower students.
- Assessment is meaningful and a positive learning experience for students.
- Students receive timely, differentiated support based on their individual learning needs.
- Learning outcomes emphasize competencies that include application and creation of knowledge, along with the development of important skills and dispositions.

High levels of stakeholder voice is a key attribute to highly effective schools. Simply put, stakeholder voice leverages the opinions and thinking of all stakeholders in the school community as a key element in making quality decisions. Inherent to stakeholder voice is a shared-decision making process which must be created, communicated and implemented. This process clarifies which decisions are made by administrators and which are made in a collaborative manner. Competency-based, Personalized Learning System of Education - The time for competency education has come. It is vitally important for our country to move away from the restrictions of a time-based system. The reasons are many: To ensure that all students succeed in building college and career readiness, consistent with the Common Core of world class knowledge and skills; To build the capacity of districts, schools and educators to respond more rapidly to the needs of students and engage in continuous improvement; To take advantage of the extraordinary technological advances in online learning for personalization, allowing students to learn at their own pace, any time and everywhere. To provide greater flexibility for students that would otherwise not graduate from high school because they have to work or care for their families. In 2011, 100 innovators in competency education came together for the first time. At that meeting, participants fine-tuned a working definition of high quality competency education:

- Students advance upon mastery.
- Competencies include explicit, measurable, transferable learning standards that empower students.
- Assessment is meaningful and a positive learning experience for students.
- Students receive timely, differentiated support based on their individual learning needs.
- Learning outcomes emphasize competencies that include application and creation of knowledge, along with the development of important skills and dispositions.

Competency-based, Personalized Learning System of Education - The time for competency education has come. It is vitally important for our country to move away from the restrictions of a time-based system. The reasons are many: To ensure that all students succeed in building college and career readiness, consistent with the Common Core of world class knowledge and skills; To build the capacity of districts, schools and educators to respond more rapidly to the needs of students and engage in continuous improvement; To take advantage of the extraordinary technological advances in online learning for personalization, allowing students to learn at their own pace, any time and everywhere. To provide greater flexibility for students that would otherwise not graduate from high school because they have to work or care for their families. In 2011, 100 innovators in competency education came together for the first time. At that meeting, participants fine-tuned a working definition of high quality competency education: -Students advance upon mastery. -Competencies include explicit, measurable, transferable learning standards that empower students. -Assessment is meaningful and a positive learning experience for students. -Students receive timely, differentiated support based on their individual learning needs. -Learning outcomes emphasize competencies that include application and creation of knowledge, along with the development of important skills and dispositions.

Collaborative Learning	Collaborative learning is based on the view that knowledge is a social construct. Collaborative activities are most often based on four principles: 1. The learner or student is the primary focus of instruction. 2. Interaction and "doing" are of primary importance. 3. Working in groups is an important mode of learning. 3. Structured approaches to developing solutions to real-world problems should be incorporated into learning. Collaborative learning can occur peer-to-peer or in larger groups. Peer learning, or peer instruction, is a type of collaborative learning that involves students working in pairs or small groups to discuss concepts, or find solutions to problems. Stakeholder Voice	High levels of stakeholder voice is a key attribute to highly effective schools. Simply put, stakeholder voice leverages the opinions and thinking of all stakeholders in the school community as a key element in making quality decisions. Inherent to stakeholder voice is a shared-decision making process which must be created, communicated and implemented. This process clarifies which decisions are made by administrators and which are made in a collaborative manner.
